

Lethality

Current as of 18 July 2019

Lesson Plan

Objective: Understand AFSC contributions to lethality and the relation between readiness and lethality.

Instructional Aids: Facilitator Course Note Taker

Foundational Competences: Communication, Resource Management, Perseverance, Strategic Thinking, Flexibility and Precision.

References: AFH-1, Revitalizing Squadrons

Lesson Outline: Lethality

Introduction a. Attention Step: Gen Welsh Video from Airmanship 100 b. Motivation: Why is lethality important to the Air Force Objective: Discuss the importance of your role in readiness to support lethality.	10 Minutes
MP 1. AFSC contribution to lethality a. How does your career field in the profession of arms contribute to lethality? 1. Facilitated discussion 2. Where in the previous video is your AFSC involved?	15 Minutes
MP 2. Why is your readiness important to lethality? a. What is readiness b. How does readiness support lethality? c. What is your plan to maintain your readiness to support Air Force mission?	15 Minutes
MP 3. AF Heritage of Lethality a. WWI through OIF/OEF link innovation throughout history	10 Minutes
MP 4. Conclusion a. Circle back to Airmanship definition and explain how lethality relates to the definition	10 Minutes

Attention: Gen Welsh Video (Prof Arms Video from Airmanship 100)

Need video link from 737 TRG / MTI

Motivation: What are your thoughts in this video?

Anticipated responses:

Responses will vary

Objective: Discuss the importance of your role in readiness to support lethality.

Assessment questions: Can the Airman discuss the importance of readiness in support of lethality?

Transition:

MP1: Your AFSC contribution to Lethality:

- a. How does your career field in the profession of arms contribute to lethality?
 - a. Follow On Question: What would happen if your AFSC was not available to complete the mission?

Anticipated Responses: AFSC is important to mission success without there would be mission failure. All AFSC contribute to lethality.

- b. Refer to Gen Welsh Video: Where in the video is your AFSC involved to ensure the bomb lands on target?

Anticipated Responses: Will vary dependent on AFSC

Transition: Relate lethality to readiness

MP2: Why is your readiness important to lethality?

- a. What is readiness?

- Facilitate discussion that comprises of Airman Readiness

Anticipated Response: Comprehensive Air Fitness (CAF). Medical, Financial, PT etc.....

- b. What is your plan to maintain your readiness to support lethality?

Anticipated Response: Go to gym, eat healthy, OJT, maintain finances, etc.....

(Note: mention AFRC programs, chaplains, Military One Source etc.....)

MP3: Air Force Heritage and Lethality

Play Global Strike Our Nation's Shield video from PACE

<https://www.dvidshub.net/video/485776/global-strike-our-nations-shield>

Talking point after video:

- The evolution of the nuclear power
- The modernization of nuclear certify airplanes (B-29, B-52, B-2)
- How many career fields can you identify in the video and how they support lethality

MP4: Conclusion

- a. Summarize lesson, emphasize AF lethality and personal readiness in support of Airmanship.